Children and families support website

Birmingham Community Healthcare is committed to making sure every child in the city - and their parents or carers - is provided with the personalised care and support he or she needs to get the very best start in life. This site highlights services available.

<https://www.gov.uk/find-sure-start-childrens-centre>

Locate your local centre, they are open to all parents, carers and children and many of the services are free. You can get help and advice on child and family health, parenting, money, training and employment.

<http://www.lscpbirmingham.org.uk>

This section is about assisting parents or guardians in safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and young people.

Services for Children, Young People and Families - We know our children and we can describe their journey. Our people are valued and supported so that they can keep children safe and help them achieve their potential.

Impact Pathways West Midlands \(ipwm.org.uk\) Impact Pathways is a 'map' of provision designed to help public and professionals who live and work in the West Midlands access support they might need and includes charities and support agencies who specialised in accommodation, food banks, finance benefits and debt to name a few.

Birmingham Cash First

Cash first referral leaflets are co-designed as straightforward resources both for people facing money worries and support workers. The step-by-step guides identify which local agencies are best placed to help people maximise income and access any existing financial entitlements

Birmingham Children's Partnership

Birmingham Children's Partnership is leading the strategic development of children and family services in the city. The Birmingham Children's Partnership brings together the local authority, the NHS, the police, the voluntary sector, the children's trust, plus children and young people themselves, in order to work together to improve the lives of children and families in Birmingham.

Help in Brum

Birmingham City Council and partners are working to support and offer guidance to our residents during the cost of living crisis in the UK

NSPCC

Provide services across England to help give children and young people the support they need to thrive.

They support parents and families in caring for their children and provide therapeutic assistance to help children move on from abuse.

They provide help and support through the NSPCC helpline, Childline and work with schools.
